I love the illustrations with designs and quotations that either make you think or inspire. I searched through for inspirational coloring books with proverbs, quotations and poetry. Samantha Snyder did such a wonderful job with this series! I purchased 4 of them right of the start. This is volume two. There are pages with quotes from Florence Nightingale, Benjamin Franklin, Confucius (As seen in one of the photos I attached), Yeats, Tennyson, and more. There are Danish, French, Chinese and Tibetan proverbs, too. I am currently on Weight Watchers and my favorite thing to do is to choose a page to share with my fellow members. I usually choose sayings that provide support in our journey to lose weight or help someone in a time of trouble. A few members have asked where I have gotten the pages and they now own their own copies of these coloring books. Happiness, inspiration is infectious! As for what to color with: I use Prismacolor markers, Sakura Gelly Rolls and Prismacolor Pencils. If you use markers, they will bleed through so make sure you have something under the page. If you have the pencils, Prismacolor sells a blender pencil which is awesome to use and I greatly recommend it! PS. You can basically finish these pages in a sitting or sitting and a half which is awesome! No need for marathon coloring. No daunting task! By Kindle Customer I first found Samantha Snyder and Doodle Art Alley online. I teach high school the advanced levels of high school math and her quotes are inspirational for my students. I have a folder of them called "Inspiration" in my room and when my students are struggling with math and frustrated that they don't immediately understand challenging concepts, I will have them take out a quote and color it and put it in their binder as a reminder. They have been redone in the book and are fabulous. Thanks!
