Excellent introduction to oriental rugsBy Jane in MilwaukeeThe author, Aram Jerrehian, has collected oriental carpets for years and is a major dealer. Unlike most other books which focus on antique carpets, his focus is exclusively on new carpets. He explains the ins and outs of how rugs are made and gives cautionaries on purchasing carpets from auctions, private dealers or...well...from anyone except a professional dealer like himself. However, the reasons given are sound and his explanation of the vagaries of the world market are interesting. There are 60 detailed color photos of carpets, all of which I find striking and beautiful. I recommend this book.

Flawless new paperback.
